PROFILE

Dr. Eric J. Stelnicki is a board-certified Plastic, Pediatric Plastic, and Craniofacial Surgeon, and is the founder of the Children's Plastic Surgery Institute of Florida as well as the Joe DiMaggio Children's Hospital Cleft and Craniofacial Center. He is an active member of the American Association of Plastic Surgeons, International Society of Craniofacial Surgery, the Florida Medical Association, and the Florida Society of Plastic Surgeons.

He has been a business owner and manager of one of the largest pediatric plastic surgery practices in the Southeast United States. He is an entrepreneur who owns several businesses and most recently ran the national division of plastic surgery for Pediatrix, which is the largest pediatric subspecialty group in the nation. During that time, he was responsible for the development of their national plastic surgery platform and the leadership of all pediatric surgical sub-specialties through his leadership role on the corporate Physician Executive Council. He has also owned businesses involved in Florida real estate, surgical centers, and most recently he has been investing in new companies developing AI related technologies here in Florida.
